In 1994, we took on the challenge of engaging and rallying a critical mass of supporters who would help ensure that all children in Quebec, across Canada and around the world would one day have an equal chance to succeed in life. Our actions and decisions have been guided by this dream ever since.

This year, we are confident that we have taken a giant leap forward in this regard. Not only is our organization feeding more children and experiencing continued growth, we have also taken on a global approach, which has allowed us to galvanize multiple stakeholders and raise awareness about the critical issue of child hunger.

For the first time ever, Canada hosted the Global Child Nutrition Forum. In September 2017, in conjunction with the City of Montreal, we brought more than 250 political, humanitarian, community and institutional leaders from 59 countries together to jointly identify best practices in this field and persuade governments to introduce national food policies and school meal programs.

It is interesting to note that our core mission at Breakfast Club of Canada and the work we do in Canadian communities contributes to fulfilling no fewer than 10 of the 17 United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.

Such sweeping civic engagement has clearly resonated with our legislators. This is a major victory for the Club and for our partners, donors, contributors and volunteers, all long-time advocates for food security and proper nutrition for children. I owe you a HUGE debt of gratitude for helping us spread our message.

More than ever before, I am convinced that the challenges we set out to complete in those first years are now within our reach. And, together, I know we can achieve our dream.

Daniel Germain
President and Founder, Breakfast Club of Canada

As demonstrated by the successful planning and execution of the Global Child Nutrition Forum, Breakfast Club of Canada is now an internationally recognized organization. Many countries use us as a model with regards to our exemplary breakfast programs, our approach, our administrative practices and our ongoing commitment to continually innovate here in our own country.

Our board members all lend their passion and expertise so that the Club may flourish, preserve its coveted reputation and, above all, pursue its mission to foster children’s potential and well-being by giving them an equal opportunity to succeed—one breakfast at a time.

The trust demonstrated by governments, corporate partners and individual donors in the work we do fills us with immense pride. Our duty as a board is to provide insight and to oversee the Club’s operations, as well as to play an active role in ensuring the organization runs smoothly and efficiently.

Our job is made easier by the fact that everyone at the Club—management, staff and the wonderful volunteers—puts children front and centre of every decision they make, just like we do!

It is an honour for me and my fellow board members to contribute to the ongoing success of an organization that is working toward the noblest of missions and that strives to find the right blend of courage and caution in everything it undertakes.

Backed by 24 years of experience, Breakfast Club of Canada is now a force to be reckoned with on the Canadian philanthropic scene. We will continue to pull out all the stops to ensure that no child starts their school day on an empty stomach and gets left behind.

Thank you, one and all, for supporting us in our efforts.

Pierre Riel
Chair of the Board of Directors
We closed the books for the 2017–2018 fiscal year with tremendous satisfaction. The year was filled with important milestones that allowed us to reap the rewards of 24 years of hard work.

We will not stand by silently as children start their school day hungry. Our donors and partners share this conviction and contribute in whatever way and capacity they can to put an end to this regrettable reality.

This year, a new collaborator joined forces with us: the government of Quebec earmarked $50 million in funding for local school boards to open nearly 400 breakfast programs in elementary schools. We are proud to have been active in developing this budgetary measure and to have received high praise for the excellence of the system we have put into place. But the real victory here is that provincial legislators now officially acknowledge the detrimental effects of child malnutrition on academic performance in underprivileged communities.

The Global Child Nutrition Forum, which we hosted in September 2017, was also an incredible experience that helped position the Club as one of the world’s leading authorities on school nutrition.

With every new accolade, we gain more legitimacy, which is greatly appreciated because there are still sizeable challenges on the horizon. In Canada, one million children currently live below the poverty line and are at risk of going to school hungry. As you can imagine, we have our work cut out for us!

Let’s continue along this path together, heartened by the knowledge that we are making a real difference. After all, it takes a village to give all children the opportunity to achieve their full potential.

Breakfast Club of Canada's role

Leader
Enhance the school teams’ ability to implement and manage quality breakfast programs. Manage most financial and food partnerships and distribution channels. Provide local training and support.

Partner
Contribute financially to breakfast programs to ensure they have the food, supplies and management tools required to meet high nutritional standards and achieve significant rates of participation in universal programs.

Impact Accelerator
Facilitate interaction with various stakeholders to improve access to nutritious food, develop effective food sourcing solutions and promote student culinary entrepreneurship initiatives. Partnerships may involve elements such as funding, food supply or transport, or even sharing human resources.

Contributor
Offer complementary funding for existing school nutrition programs. Provide support through national fundraising campaigns and corporate volunteering programs.

2017-2018 ACTIVITY REPORT
Three innovative projects benefiting children

Reaching out to remote communities

Many remote communities do not have the financial means, or the specific know-how required to provide nutritionally balanced meals to students. This was the case in La Loche, Saskatchewan, where we secured funding from NexGen to hire and train cooks and upgrade the kitchen facilities of three schools with a combined daily student population of 1,100.

Joining forces to overcome distance

It can be difficult for breakfast program coordinators to come up with sufficiently diverse and wholesome menus, especially in areas that are far from urban centres, which are not uncommon in a country as big as ours. We help address this challenge by providing access to tools that allow coordinators to share resources, make group purchases and synchronize their transportation needs with others in their community; all at a low cost thanks to special discounts brokered by the Club.

For example, we put neighbouring communities in touch with one another so they can use the same food distributors and thereby reduce their costs. Similarly, they can take advantage of bulk pricing by teaming up with other schools to buy fresh food.

Extending our services to include early childhood: because food insecurity affects children of all ages

In June 2018, Breakfast Club of Canada agreed to launch a three-year pilot project funded entirely by the Quebec government to assess the impact of an early childhood component. We are pleased to offer our expertise for the benefit of preschoolers and toddlers. Children enrolled in educational childcare facilities in disadvantaged communities are also at risk of undernourishment or insufficient variety in terms of food choices.

Raising nutritional awareness among Indigenous communities and youth

First annual Healthy Food Feeds Healthy Minds conference

This three-day conference was an opportunity for members of various communities to share ideas and innovative practices during a series of nutrition-related presentations and workshops. A number of practical, easy-to-implement solutions were explored as a result.

For many years, we have been working to strengthen our ties with Indigenous communities through our school breakfast programs by helping them develop nutritionally balanced menus and healthy dietary habits. We have been generously supported in our efforts by the Sprott Foundation and General Mills Foundation.

Teaching children the value of healthy eating is a big part of what we do at Breakfast Club of Canada. Our involvement is particularly vital in Indigenous communities, where one out of every two children faces food insecurity, and almost 50% are overweight and at risk of developing type 2 diabetes.

Helping young leaders flourish

We have always been firm believers in the importance of volunteering at a young age. These experiences instill the importance of helping the community. One-third of our volunteer force is made up of students, who we consider to be the leaders of tomorrow. We reward them for their commitment by holding leadership camps every year in various locations across the country. These lively, challenging and informative programs are sponsored by Aeroplan, the Canadian Tire Jumpstart Charities, the New Pathways Foundation and Exeko, with the objective of giving participants the tools they need to address a particular problem within their own breakfast program. Together, they gain self-confidence, develop leadership skills and discover the true value of teamwork.

They leave with the tools and the confidence they need to plan and carry out a project that will improve the breakfast program in their school. The camps thus nurture citizen engagement and encourage youth to play an active part in their community.

“Before going to camp, I didn’t have a lot of self-esteem because I kept getting called all sorts of names at school. But now I know I just have to ignore them and be myself.”

– Kaisey, participant
Any age is a good age to get involved in a worthy cause. Elizabeth Hosking came to this realization in elementary school, when she started helping out at her school’s breakfast program, following in her mother’s footsteps.

Elizabeth was Canada’s youngest athlete at the PyeongChang Olympic Games. She is now putting her leadership qualities to good use by encouraging children to reach for their goals. Elizabeth’s own story is inspirational in this regard: She competed in the snowboard halfpipe event at her first Olympic games the same year she was graduating from high school. She insists on the importance of believing in yourself and never giving up.
Global Child Nutrition Forum

From September 17 to 21, 2017, we had the privilege of hosting the 19th annual Global Child Nutrition Forum in Montreal, organized jointly with the Global Child Nutrition Foundation and the UN World Food Programme’s Centre of Excellence against Hunger. The theme for the Forum was “Bridge to Sustainable Development through School Meal Programs.” All participants gathered to discuss practical ways of tackling child malnutrition.

From this forum emerged an obvious conclusion: no single group can eradicate the problem alone. The ideal place to cultivate an effective, long-term solution remains the school environment, a part of every child’s daily life. However, in order to ensure that schools have access to the necessary support and resources to create nutrition programs, local, regional, national and international communities, as well as the public and private sectors, must work together.

The event itself was a prime example of the spirit of collaboration, as it was a joint initiative of the City of Montreal, the Ministère de l’Éducation et de l’Enseignement supérieur du Québec, the Government of Canada, the Air Canada Foundation and Danone.

Sharing our experience and expertise to better address the challenges at hand
The Quebec government invests in breakfast programs

In June 2018, the Quebec government announced a new budgetary measure earmarking $50 million for school nutrition over the next five years. Elementary schools in underprivileged communities can apply for government funding to start a breakfast program, in collaboration with the Club if they so choose.

We are very proud to have played a role in bringing this initiative to life and helping to ensure its long-term sustainability. We even had a hand in establishing the stringent program criteria, based on the Club’s existing procedures, so that students receive services commensurate with their needs.

Breakfast programs funded under this measure will be required to:

- Serve breakfast every school day
- Be accessible to the entire student body
- Ensure every meal includes servings from three or more food groups
- Promote healthy dietary habits

$50 million in funding for schools over 5 years

Up to 400 elementary schools could benefit from this budgetary measure in order to set up a breakfast program.
Positive changes for parents

In March 2018, the HEC Montréal Department of Marketing polled 180 parents of children enrolled in a breakfast program at an elementary school in Quebec. The goal was to broaden the Club’s understanding of the impact of breakfast programs outside of the school environment.

The findings were very positive:

- 75% of parents stated that their morning routine is less rushed, and their stress levels are lower as a result
- 59% said they are less worried about their children’s nutritional intake
- 42% noticed new tastes, food preferences and eating habits in their children’s diet.

Nearly 50% of parents say their children do not have breakfast at home for one of three reasons: they are not hungry when they wake up, they have not had enough sleep, or they are short on time.

32% of parents report that their children have asked them to buy more fruits and vegetables.

Breakfast programs not only meet the needs of children, but also contribute to a better quality of life for parents and families.

Meaningful improvements for school administrators

Another survey, conducted by Breakfast Club of Canada, asked school administrators across Canada to report on the tangible effects breakfast programs have on students. The surveys were administered six months after a new breakfast program was rolled out.

41 school administrations

Impact on educational quality
- In more than half of the schools surveyed, students’ attention span doubled
- The number of behavioural incidents dropped by 71%
- 50% of schools observed an improvement in class attendance

Impact on health
- There was a 22% overall increase in fruit consumption
- The number of interventions related to physical health problems was halved
Our Board of Directors

Breakfast Club of Canada is fortunate to be able to rely on the experience and expertise of its board, which is composed of people who are passionately concerned about children’s futures, the Club and its mission. We are sincerely grateful to them for their involvement in and commitment to our organization.

Careful management to secure our operations

Astute readers will undoubtedly notice that we reported a significant surplus at the end of the fiscal year. This is a precautionary measure taken by our management team, because it is impossible for us to forecast how much money will be coming into the organization during the summer months. We set aside a financial cushion to ensure we have sufficient cash flow to get programs up and running at the beginning of the school year.

The above figures are taken from our 2017–2018 audited financial statements, available for consultation on the Breakfast Club of Canada website.
Independent Auditor's Report

To the Directors of
Breakfast Club of Canada

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Breakfast Club of Canada, which comprise the statement of financial position as at June 30, 2018 and the statements of operations and net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's responsibility for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan to perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

Basis for qualified opinion

In common with many not-for-profit organizations, Breakfast Club of Canada derives revenues from contributions, including donations and annual fund-raising campaign, and breakfast parents’ contributions, the completeness of which is not susceptible to satisfactory audit verification. Accordingly, verification of these contributions was limited to the amounts recorded in the records of Breakfast Club of Canada. Therefore, we were not able to determine whether any adjustments might be necessary to donations and annual fund-raising campaign and breakfast parents’ contribution revenues, excess of revenues over expenses and cash flows from operating activities for the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017, current assets as at June 30, 2018 and 2017 and net assets as at July 1, 2017 and 2016 and June 30, 2018 and 2017. Our opinion on the financial statements for the year ended June 30, 2017 was qualified accordingly because of the possible effects of this limitation in scope.

Qualified opinion

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for qualified opinion paragraph, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Breakfast Club of Canada as at June 30, 2018 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Cash donation (one-time or monthly)

Whether a donation is made once or automatically every month, from an individual or an organization, every gift is equally appreciated and helps secure the future of our operations.

Fundraising

Fundraising events are an effective way to rally a community together in support of a cause. Breakfast Club of Canada's online fundraising platform is easy to use and designed to simplify the task for event organizers. For more information, head to give.breakfastclubcanada.org.

Proceeds from the sale of a product

Some businesses opt to donate a portion of the proceeds from the sale of certain items to the Club. This lets them show their support for a cause that aligns with their corporate values, which is something today's consumers factor into their purchasing decisions.

Gifts in kind (food products, goods and services)

We need multiple resources to help the Club run smoothly: food products, appliances like refrigerators and toasters, and other items that are essential to preparing a healthy morning meal every day. Our fundraising campaigns also require a wealth of services, including translation, graphic design, printing, media placement and IT support. All contributions are welcome!

Retail fundraising

Businesses may ask customers to give to the Club through checkout donation programs or special fundraising events. Initiatives like these are symbolic of the corporate values they embrace.

Inspiring events that help us accomplish more for our children

Boot, Scoot ‘n’ Swing
The Calgary business community came together for the Boot, Scoot ‘n’ Swing golf tournament hosted by Kodette and Jason LaBarbera and presented by Pembina Pipelines. Among the 100+ golfers in attendance were several NHL players, country music stars and Club partners. The event raised a total of $50,000.

Shooting for the Stars
For the fourth year in a row, Carey and Angela Price hosted the Shooting for the Stars event in Kelowna, British Columbia, in collaboration with RBC Hymers Wealth Management and LiUNA. The guest roster included business executives, Club supporters, Indigenous community leaders and government representatives. Close to $250,000 was raised for Breakfast Club of Canada.

Visionnaire cruise
The Visionnaire cruise aboard the AML Louis-Jolliet was as convivial and glamorous as it was inspiring. Over 350 members of the business community from the Quebec City area bought tickets to the exclusive networking event, brainchild of Caroline Néron. The lineup of prominent speakers touched on several topics of interest for today’s entrepreneurs.

Déjeuner des grands
The 12th annual Déjeuner des grands de la Montérégie was held in February 2018 at Hôtel Mortagne, the venue sponsor. 370 representatives of the South Shore business and education sectors attended the inspiring event and a record-breaking $82,850 was raised.

Classic Golf Tournament
For the 22nd year in a row, the Club teamed up with Claude Lacas to hold this eponymous annual golf tournament, presented by Fortier Auto. The Club’s ambassadors braved heavy rains to deliver a touching message to those in attendance. Generous contributions from tournament partners and guests yielded $145,830 in proceeds.
